Pine Canyon Breaking Ground on Trio of New Residential Options Townhomes and Cabins Focus on Convenience and Indoor/Outdoor Living

FLAGSTAFF, Ariz. (May 17, 2016) – Pine Canyon, a private master-planned golf course and residential community in Flagstaff, Arizona, is breaking ground on projects that will offer three new housing options for its residents. The projects offer a variety of opportunities for residents, among which include Club Cabins, single-family homes and townhomes to accommodate a “lock and leave” lifestyle.

The increased construction activity comes just as Pine Canyon nears its peak summer season, when the golf course hits its optimal conditions and the weather allows for endless outdoor activities and events.

“We have a comprehensive vision for Pine Canyon as it matures. Part of that plan includes the introduction of diverse residential options with resort-inspired services,” said Peter Burger, president of Symmetry Companies, which owns and manages Pine Canyon. “We place a premium on opportunities, which then afford our residents the ability to enjoy all the luxuries that this community has to offer. From a development standpoint, it will be a very busy summer.”

Construction is set to begin for Pine Canyon’s new series of Club Cabins, a collection of luxury retreats that will accommodate members who may need additional space for visiting guests or who may be awaiting the completion of their own home. The Club Cabins will provide three distinct living spaces in each building, and at build out, will incorporate four buildings. Situated between the clubhouse and Camp Pine Canyon, the Club Cabins will give guests easy access to all of Pine Canyon’s amenities.

To accommodate the “lock and leave” lifestyle, Pine Canyon is beginning construction on White Pines Vista, a village of townhomes that caters to buyers who desire more flexibility. At completion, White Pines Vista will include 36 luxury residences across 12 buildings. The two-story, three-bedroom attached homes incorporate natural stone and rustic wood along with oversized windows to capture spectacular views of the mountain landscape. White Pines Vista will offer fully managed homes with concierge inspired services.

Pine Canyon will also break ground this summer on Coconino Ridge, a pocket of 32 single-family cabins that will emphasize the synergy of indoor and outdoor living. Designed in collaboration with legendary architect Bing Hu and CLB Architects, the luxury homes at Coconino Ridge will strike a harmonious balance between the region’s natural landscape and the area’s cultural spirit. Pine Canyon expects to begin taking reservations for Coconino Ridge in the fall.
